Suffolks consigned by RICH KRAFKA FAMILY SUFFOLKS, Dysart, IA

Lot 40 Junior ram lamb

We'll be bringing a junior ram lamb sired by "CyHawk" the big-boned Skartvedt ram that stood third overall at Sedalia in 2008 and sired our top-selling $1,800 and $900 ram lambs at the Center of the Nation NSIP Sale in Spencer, IA August 1.

We were blessed with a great crop of ram lambs this year and will bring complete, consistent and correct stud rams than will make a great addition to your breeding program.

They are big-boned, long-bodied, straight-topped, with excellent testicle size and super-correct mouths, feet and legs.

Consigning Krafka Harkema 9002-09, a long-bodied stylish Suffolk stud ram ready to go for this fall's breeding season

Born 2/10/09

Type of birth: TWIN DNA: RR/NN

Sire: "CyHawk" Skartvedt 424

Dam: "Lisa Marie" Van Dyke Suffolks 424, a big-bodied ewe that traces to Buckeye Acres' "Elvis" "Lisa Marie" consistently produces twins that are destined to be stud rams

Lot 41 Yearling ewe

Name of animal: Krafka B8027 RR/NN

Birthdate: 2/14/08

Type of birth: Twin DNA: RR/NN

Sire: "Flawless" C&S LB458, our reserve junior champion ram at the 2004 Iowa State Fair & a NSIP performance champion in post-weaning weight

Dam: KJ Lansing 6755, out of the Kevin Lansing Iowa State Fair show flock

Comments: Our ewes have been sought-after as foundation females for decades by people starting in the Suffolk business and long-time breeders, because they're backed by generations of production records, they have natural eye appeal and they produce consistent results. They're big-topped, long hind-saddled, growthy females that are bred to look best slick shorn and have the natural capacity and milk to raise multiple lambs that are vigorous from birth. This ewe's dam consistently produces stud rams and stud ewes. Add this stylish ewe selected from our "keeper" pen to add to the productivity and potential profits of your flock. She'll work for you, too.

Lot 39 Junior ram lamb

Name of animal: Krafka Harkema 9009 RR/NN

Birthdate: 2/10/09 Type of birth: Twin DNA: RR/NN

Sire: "CyHawk" Skartvedt 4244

Dam: Krafka Harkema W606-05 FL RR, by "Flawless" 2005 NSIP weaning weight EPD trait leader and Res. Jr. Champion Suffolk Ram, 2004 Iowa State Fair

Comments: Looking for a big, deep-bodied, level-docked Suffolk with super style to boot? Then check out this muscular ram lamb that's sure to add pounds of performance to your next lamb crop. You'll appreciate his natural thickness, overall style and balance and structural correctness.

You'll really appreciate all he has to offer once you get your hands on him.

He's a real meat wagon just like his tremendous sire that was a standout placing 3rd overall at Sedalia in 2008 and still has breeders talking about his muscle.

Lot 40 Junior ewe lamb

Name of animal: Krafka Harkema 0531

Birthdate: 2/7/2009 Type of birth: Twin DNA: RR/NN

Sire: "CyHawk" Skartvedt 4244

Dam: Krafka Harkema P409, a "King Kinser" daughter, 2002 Res. Jr. Champion Ram for Rex Quam at the National Suffolk Sale in Sedalia & top sire overall in 2003 NSIP post-weaning weight EPD

Comments: Select this stylish, long-bodied, straight-topped ewe to add to your flock's natural style and performance. Thanks to our focus on objective measurements based on NSIP expected progeny difference (EPD) records along with visual appraisal, our ewes consistently raise multiple lambs and possess the natural instinct and genetic ability to raise them quickly and efficiently, producing vigorous, consistent lambs that reach market weight in less time on feed. Put our generations of leading seedstock breeding science to work to advance the productivity of your flock.
